SPORTING NEWS.

GALWAY MEETING—YESTERDAY.

THE GALWAY HURDLE RACE.

KING MICHAEL'S EASY VICTORY.

Rain fell again at Galway yesterday, but there was only a slight falling off in the attendance. Although fields were not as big as on the opening day, a brisk enough start was made with eight runners for the "Express" Plate. For this Sir Blare the mount of Frank Wootton, was made a warm favourite, but he just failed to beat Rockdale, the best he could do being to make a dead-heat. The owner of Rockdale refused to divide, while Sir Blare's connections did not care to ask him for a second effort, and the County Limerick trained horse was allowed to walk over for the decider.

The Galway Hurdle Plate attracted a party of ten, and there was very open wagering. King Michael, despite his big weight and the heavy going, wound up in most demand, Benediction and King Eber being next in request, while Mount Prospect came in for sound support. The story of the race is easily told, for the four named always had the issue between them, and King Michael, who settled down in front, was never really troubled, and in scoring so decisively put up a splendid performance. Far and Away was prominent for a mile and a half, and King Eber also ran very well.

Village Gossip, although an outsider, gained a very popular victory in the Maiden Steeplechase, and Registration supplemented her success of the previous afternoon by an easy victory in the Traders' Plate. The Goiner made amends for his Limerick Junction failure by winning the "Galway Plate," Plate, and the King's Plate was won by Blackwood. Details:—

SPORTING PARAGRAPHS.

America's champion three-year-old, Grey Leg, by Starshoot—Miss Minnie, has won the Empire City Derby at Yonkers.

A resolution in before the Chesterfield Town Council to abolish pony racing on the Whittington racecourse, where Fred Archer rode his first winner.

Pucka Sahib and The Widow Malone have been entered for both the Cesarewitch and Cambridgeshire, the latter of which Soldeman and Bachelor's Fort are also engaged. Both of the big autumn handicaps have been splendidly supported, there being 126 nominations for the Cesarewitch and 112 for the Cambridgeshire. The weights for both will be published on September 14.

Prior to the Brighton Handicap at Brighton yesterday, the eventual winner, Tetragynia, proved a rare handful for her jockey, Elliott, whom she dislodged several times before she could be induced to leave the paddock.

In the Prince Edward Handicap, to be run at Manchester on September 3, Pucka Sahib has been allotted 7st. 9lb., and King Michael 7st. 5lb.

BRIGHTON MEETING—YESTERDAY.

BLACK RAY'S DEFEAT.

ANOTHER WIN FOR TETRAGYNIA.

Probably the most disappointed person on the course when Donoghue was beaten on the second of the odds-on chances that he rode, The Jester, was his eldest son. The leading jockey's two boys are being educated at Brighton, and had been granted a holiday to see their father. The Jester, however, was in trouble, and Donoghue had his whip up before half the distance had been covered, Tomahawk being an easy winner.

A notable defeat was that of Black Ray in the Cliftonville Plate, for odds of 10 to 1 had to be laid on. Generally, the big punters held aloof, but Mr. Galstaun, the Indian owner, laid the odds, with disastrous results. Most of the big fielders, however, lost on the race, the fact being that, had they asked for Iona prohibitive odds, backers would have responded, but as it was Iona carried their investments.

Young Colling has seldom ridden a better race than he now did on Major Paget's filly on Tuesday. She had not got well away, and her jockey was probably in too great a hurry to get on terms with Chinese White, with the result that when she got there she had not an effort left. Then, again, Black Ray may not be a particularly smart two-year-old, but Donoghue told me she now ran very green.

The presence of Mr. Joel's horses, no doubt, spoilt both the Cliftonville and Southdown Plates, but their defeat, with good odds laid on, should be an incentive to trainers and owners not to regard the presence of any particular horse as providing an entirely forlorn hope for others.

It was surprising that Tetragynia had not more friends in the Three-Year-Old Handicap, in face of her runaway win in the last race overnight, for she had only a 7lb. penalty. She is evidently very speedy, and was soon cut by herself, but, though scoring again, Poiret was rapidly catching her, and was only beaten a head.

On the opening afternoon at Lewes Donoghue rides Chivalrous and Beau Soleil, Cooper Tagrag, Smyth Golden-Rule, and Grace Lomond Hills.

In London the Stock Markets languished for lack of support. Oils and "Kaffirs" were firm spots. Loan and discount rates continued to harden. In Dublin the market was small and irregular.—(P. 7.)

Useless Ministries.

Yesterday Dr. Macnamara gave an account of his stewardship and made the best of a bad case. The Ministry of Labour has done a certain amount of good, and an immense amount of harm. On the right side of the account there are its efforts to promote industrial peace. It has formed seventy-seven joint industrial councils in Great Britain; it has brought sixty-two trade boards to life; and the skill and diplomacy of its arbitrators have averted many a bitter struggle. The trade boards, however, have not been an unqualified success. Credit must be given to the Ministry also for its work on behalf of the ex-Service men. Some thousands of youths have been helped to complete their apprenticeships; sixty-six instructional factories have been opened, and the claims of the ex-soldier always receive prompt attention. The Ministry's chief defects are the unwieldy nature of its branches and the cost of its administration. It does not give the taxpayer a good return for his money. Take, for instance, the Labour Exchanges. Dr. Macnamara said that during twelve months some 861,000 vacancies had been filled through their agency, and between January and July of this year 77,000 women had been placed in domestic service. These figures are interesting, but they do not prove that the Exchanges are useful. The majority of employers in the United Kingdom never think of invoking the aid of the Government's machine when they need hands. A small advertisement in a newspaper brings more applicants for jobs than there are vacancies. Virtually the only work which the Exchanges perform is the distribution of the unemployment dole.

The Government has appointed a committee of business men to examine the estimates of the various departments. This is a remarkable departure from practice. Only a few weeks have elapsed since the House of Commons appointed a committee of its own members to scrutinise the estimates and to report what, if any, economies consistent with policy might be effected. Has the Government no faith in that committee's skill? Apparently it has not, when it calls in a body of outsiders to do the same work. Hitherto Ministers have accepted full responsibility for the work of their respective departments. Will they, in future, when challenged on questions of expenditure, take refuge behind this committee of high experts? There is not much encouragement in the news that Sir Eric Geddes is to be the committee's chairman. No department of State has been guilty of greater extravagance than that from which Sir Eric is about to retire. It has disbursed many millions of the taxpayers' money without conferring a single benefit upon the country. Some of its schemes have been dropped, but others are marching steadily towards completion, and the new Railway Bill will place it in an impregnable position from which it can continue to do an immense amount of harm. A business-man who was not prejudiced in favour of the Ministry of Transport would recommend its immediate abolition as a necessary and obvious step for the conservation of the nation's money. It can hardly be expected that Sir Eric Geddes will suggest the destruction of his own handiwork, and it is equally improbable that he will propose a drastic reduction in the ramifications of the Ministry of Labour. In the circumstances, his appointment must be regarded as exceedingly ill-advised.

Finance depends upon policy, and questions of policy must be decided by the Cabinet. If the committee of businessmen were allowed a voice in the decisions, we should be confronted with a singular state of affairs, in which an unauthorised body usurped the place of the country's chosen rulers. The position would be impossible. The appointment of the committee is merely an ingenious attempt to shield the Cabinet from the storm of criticism which is whistling about its ears. It enables Mr. Lloyd George to say to the advocates of "anti-waste": "What more can I do? You say that the Government has no business ability. I have sought the advice of the greatest business experts in the Kingdom, and they agree that the various departments are not spending a halfpenny too much." Economy in small things is desirable, but economy in large things is even more desirable. The simple fact is that the State machinery is too big. The socialistic legislation of the last three years has produced an army of officials which the country cannot afford to pay. The Government must reduce that army ruthlessly. The task may involve the disappearance of departments and the collapse of cherished schemes of reform, but it must be accomplished. Every department ought to be rationed. The Cabinet ought to apportion the amounts that may be spent and fix a limit beyond which expenditure cannot go. Individually we are compelled to do that, and there is no reason why the State should not do it. No amount of eloquence can make a ten-shilling note purchase a pound's worth of labour or material, and until the Government accepts that simple fact and acts upon it the national finances never will be restored to a healthy state. The Government's present policy has wrung the last sixpence from the unhappy taxpayer, and unless it is changed the country will plunge into bankruptcy.

The Young Men.

Training for the professions was "held up" throughout the period of the war. The universities were empty during the four years when history was being made in Europe. Afterwards there was a rush of released manhood to every seat of learning, with the result that at the present time exceptionally large numbers of qualified, or nearly qualified, men are preparing to put their brains and degrees upon the market of the world. The situation has provoked some rather dismal comment from schoolmasters and heads of professional bodies. A London schoolmaster said last week that in five years' time the profession of engineering would be hopelessly overcrowded. The immediate outlook for young architects is, as the Institution admits, not encouraging. Dr. Cox, of the British Medical Association, fears that, within the next year or two, more medical students will qualify than the public will be able to absorb. He is particularly gloomy about the prospects of women students. "I have doubts," he said, "whether parents sending their daughters into the profession just now are not inviting trouble. There is room in the profession of medicine for women, but not in the numbers that are rushing into it." The women doctors furnish, perhaps, a special problem; but two things may be said about the situation which is inspiring so much expert pessimism. It is the natural result of well understood causes, and it is not likely to be permanent. The uncommonly large supply of freshly qualified men will distribute itself in time. The revival of industry will create new openings for men of ability and character. In engineering and architecture, for instance, enterprise is waiting upon a decline in the cost of labour and materials. There is still a lack of medical men in the industrial areas of Great Britain and the State is giving a daily increased importance to the subject of public health. The prizes of the profession still must be won by exceptional ability; but the position of the general practitioner has improved greatly in recent years. Nevertheless, it is probable that young professional men who are about to embark upon the business of life must be content with small beginnings and must be ready to face an initial struggle of more than ordinary severity. Many of them, no doubt, will go abroad—especially to the Dominions, where large developments may be expected in the coming years. For young Irishmen now in the universities, and for the parents of Irish boys who are now in the senior classes at school, the problem of a career is one of peculiar interest and importance. We have three universities in this small island and all are crowded to-day with lads who soon must begin to devote their training and talents to the earning of a decent livelihood. Are they to earn it at home or will they maintain that tradition of exile which has enriched the world at Ireland's expense? To-day this fateful issue hangs in the balance. If the present negotiations fail—if we are doomed to a renewal of political and economic strife—Ireland will see an early exodus of the best of her young men to other countries. If the near future gives us a settlement that promises peace and progress, the majority of these young men will stay at home. Their brains, character, and gifts of leadership will be absorbed into the life of their own country; and for the first time that life, with all its hopes, impulses and achievements, will make to the world a full and true revelation of the people that God meant the Irish to be. The old and middle-aged among us have a profound interest in the present peace movement; its success will enable them to say their Nunc dimittis with thankful hearts. It is the young, however, for whom the result will be all in all—the turning-point in their country's destinies and in their own.

Dublin's Treasures.

It is pleasant to be reminded that even amid the horrors of civil strife Irishmen have found solace in the gifts of art and the beauties of nature. The latest report of the Visitors of the National Museum and Botanical Gardens shows that these institutions have a real place in the popular heart. Of course, the Museum and Gardens are neglected by the State, which, whatever Government is in power, never fails to pamper the politician at the cost of science and scholarship. The office of Director of the Museum remains unfilled and certain other posts are still vacant. The salaries of the staffs—who are mere experts in difficult branches of knowledge, and not miners or railway porters—have been allowed to fall miserably below the cost of living. Some day, perhaps, such neglect and injustice will be repaired. In the year which ended with March, 1920, the Botanical Gardens had 417,458 visitors—an increase of 77,703 as compared with the previous year. If a sustained increase is recorded in the next report, we shall be convinced that at last the Gardens are coming into their own and share the "C. H. B." of nature. This growing interest in the Gardens is a true compliment to the care and skill which are lavished on them by Sir Frederick Moore and his assistants.

The Last Post.

We regret deeply to learn that the gallant effort to save the 5th Royal Irish Lancers has been made in vain. It is announced to-day that the disbandment of this fine Irish regiment, with three other cavalry regiments, will take place at an early date. The necessity of Army reductions in the interest of economy was admitted; but we hold, as our readers know, that the sentence upon the 5th Lancers was an injustice and a mistake. It was an injustice because the Government announced that the four junior cavalry regiments would be selected for disbandment, and the 5th Lancers was not one of these. It was a mistake because Ireland has given much to the British Army and deserved better treatment. She is peculiarly tenacious of her great military traditions and some of the greatest of them are blazoned on the Colours of the 5th Lancers. The most loyal of Irishmen is entitled to feel that the Irish cavalry regiment which carved its way gloriously through the European War from Mons to Mons had earned a kinder fate. Sir Horace Plunkett has said that "Anglo-Irish history is for Englishmen to remember and for Irishmen to forget." In this case it is the British Government which has forgotten.

NATIONAL MUSEUM AND BOTANIC GARDENS.

REPORT OF VISITORS.

DIRECTOR WANTED FOR MUSEUM.

The report of the Board of Visitors for 1919-20, of the National Museum of Science and Art and the Royal Botanic Gardens, Dublin, was issued yesterday. It states that the attendance of the public during the year ended March 31st, 1920, was 270,233, a decrease on the previous year of 39,566. The visitors call attention to the necessity of filling the posts vacant in the staff of the Museum, since there is so much work to be done, which has been getting into arrears since the posts became vacant of Technical Assistant in the Botanical section, and Assistant in the Irish Antiquities division. The visitors desire to impress upon the authorities the urgency of increasing the incomes of the members of the official staff of the Museum and the Botanic Gardens, in view of the fact that the cost of living and the existing prices of all necessities have rendered many of the salaries very inadequate, and no increase in salary, beyond the annual increments and bonus, has been made since 1914. Those senior officials who were at their maximum in 1914 have seen their incomes reduced while in the Edinburgh Museum substantial increases have been made in all salaries. No Director has been appointed, the duties being carried out by the Secretary, and, in the opinion of the Board of Visitors, the National Museum of Ireland is entitled to have a Director, quite as much as that of Scotland.

The Board of Visitors have heard that it is proposed, under the new Education Bill, to transfer the control of the Museum from the Department of Agriculture and Technical Instruction to that of the new Education Board. They trust that if, and when, this is carried out the powers of the Visitors may be extended, or handed over to a Board of Trustees as in England and Wales, who would have authority for expenditure, as is the case with the Governor and Guardians of the National Gallery of Ireland. At the present time no article over the value of 5s. can be purchased without special authority from the Department.

THE ROYAL BOTANIC GARDENS.

The Board of Visitors made the annual inspection of the Royal Botanic Gardens, Glasnevin, on Saturday, the 10th of April, 1920. They are glad to note that there has been a satisfactory increase in the attendance of the public during the period covered by this report. During the year, ending the 31st March the attendance was 417,468, as against 339,765 for the previous twelve months, showing an increase of 77,703. The Visitors found the houses, frames, and grounds in the usual good order, much painting and repairs having been carried out during the year, but the roof of the Orchid House, No. 7, and that of the Filmy Fern House should be attended to, as they are very much worse than when the Visitors reported on their condition last year. They wish, particularly, to record how well the Gardens were kept supplied with coal by the Board of Works during a trying time of scarcity. The supply was not lavish, but just sufficient, with rigid economy, to keep up a normal temperature in the houses, without incurring serious loss.

LONDON CORRESPONDENCE.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON.
THURSDAY NIGHT.

To-day was the seventh anniversary of the outbreak of the great war, but little attention was paid to the fact in London. Not a flag was flying anywhere, nor did the Churches hold special services, a feature of the anniversary in past years. In all probability, the annual celebration of the great war in the future will be on Armistice Day owing to the great ceremonies of last November 11th, with the unveiling of the Cenotaph and the burial of the Unknown Warrior in the Abbey.

It is understood that the last meeting of the Imperial Conference will take place to-morrow, and the report of its proceedings will be presented and passed by the members. It will then be published as soon as possible. It is said that the members of the Conference have expressed themselves as being well satisfied with the results obtained.

The House of Commons began its work to-day by repealing or amending a number of its Standing Orders relating to private business. The Speaker had to put more than a score of questions to the House, and did so with his usual rapidity and accuracy, never making a slip as to whether "the ayes have it" or "the noes have it." His performance was rewarded with cheers.

The Irish Solicitor-General, in reply to Colonel Archer Shee, said that his attention had been called to a letter of the "so-called Minister of Defence" in Ireland relating to the kidnapping and murder of Mrs. Lindsay. Mrs. Lindsay, in giving notice to the Crown forces of an intended ambush, had acted as a loyal citizen. She had not asked for or received any special protection, as there was no idea that the rebels would murder an old lady. Owing to the truce it was not intended to institute proceedings against those responsible. This announcement caused an outcry among some of the Coalitionists.

The completion of Irish land purchase would appear to have been postponed sine die, for the Leader of the House stated that, while he regretted that it had not been possible to proceed with the Bill, he could not say when it would be possible to fulfil the Government's pledges in this matter.

After all, it appears that the £50,000 which Sir Eric Geddes received on his retirement from the North-Eastern Railway will come out of the public funds. Last year Mr. Chamberlain was of opinion that the company could not recover this money from the Government, but the Law Officers have decided otherwise. Sir Robert Horne was asked to lay the original agreement on the table, but replied that the House of Commons had nothing to do with it.

Curiosity about the functions of Sir Eric Geddes's new committee to consider departmental economies is very keen. Mr. Asquith asked for a special day to discuss it, but Mr. Chamberlain declined to give it, and strongly objected to the assertion that its appointment was derogatory to Parliament. It is unlikely that the new committee will come into operation until October, for Sir Eric Geddes needs a rest before presiding over its deliberations. Letters of invitation, however, are now being sent out to prominent business men. These indicate the duties of the committee.

The best joke of this afternoon came from Sir J. Rees in a question of his about the Emir of Nejd. The name of the region was spelt Negd. In asking it he called attention to the mistake, and added, "No Arab chieftain ever stood in need of a "gee."

Dr. Macnamara on the Labour vote this evening had to face a considerable body of criticism which was not altogether friendly. He made a long, and in many respects an interesting, speech explanatory of the Ministry of Labour's manifold activities. Much of the beneficent work of the department, though attended with far-reaching results, was, he said, unseen and unknown. The much abused Labour Exchanges had also done wonderful work. There were at one period over 2,000,000 unemployed on the books, while there were only a little over 23,000 vacancies. Last year 861,000 vacancies were filled through the agency of the Exchanges, and 77,000 women had found their proper sphere of life as domestic servants. Many thousands of ex-Service men had been trained by the Ministry, and in respect of those still unemployed he appealed to employers to come forward and give them a helping hand.

There are so many Russian refugees now in London that the Bishop of London has decided to set apart a church for their services. This church is that of St. Philip, in Buckingham Palace road, a fine commodious building in red brick which has been out of use for some time. It can be adapted easily for the Greek ritual, and the Russians will be very glad to have another church where they may attend their own Services. St. Mary le Bow has been used by them for some time, having been lent by Canon Masterman, but the interior is not well adapted for Greek Services, and the ordinary Services have to be carried on as well.

Mr. J. H. Thomas had an interview to-night with Mr. Neal, Under-Secretary of Transport, as to a reported hitch in the Irish railway negotiations, which threatens to endanger not only the prospects of industrial peace in Ireland, but also political peace with Sinn Fein. It is hoped that a meeting will be arranged between the Irish managers and Mr. Thomas to-morrow.

SPECIAL EXTRA.

TO-DAY'S LONDON PAPERS.

IRISH PEACE: A NEW PHASE.

"THE TIMES" OF TO-DAY SAYS:—

It is understood that the Irish negotiations have entered upon a new phase. Mr. de Valera is inviting Sir James Craig to a discussion upon Irish soil. He has further proposed that it should be as unconditional as was that first conversations with the Prime Minister at Downing street. It is thought possible that Sir James Craig may refuse the invitation, unless Mr. de Valera is prepared to recognise the status of Northern Ireland. If he makes this answer, it will, no doubt, be as the result of the pressure exerted by some of his Belfast followers, who, alarmed at the course of events, are opposed to any conciliatory action which might seem to weaken Sir Northern claim to complete independence of Southern Ireland. There are, however, more moderate counsellors among the Belfast Unionists, and it is still possible that their views may prevail. Some of Sir James Craig's friends in this country have also, no doubt, explained to him, if he is not already fully aware of it, that the British public will not readily understand why the Prime Minister of Northern Ireland should refuse to meet Mr. de Valera on terms which presented no difficulty to the Prime Minister of Great Britain. Whatever the fears and suspicions of Belfast, this question has other than parochial bearings, and the responsibility of raising difficulties, which could be construed as unreasonable, would be great, and could not fail to react most prejudicially upon Ulster's position in the eyes of the country and of the Empire. So even if these arguments that they will almost certainly influence the form, if not the substance of Sir James Craig's reply. Meanwhile the news from Southern Ireland continues to be good. Mr. de Valera and Mr. Arthur Griffith enjoy the support of the Sinn Fein Cabinet, and there is no reason to fear that a meeting of the Dail Eireann should upset their authority. There are still difficulties to be surmounted, but they are difficulties between Southern and Southern Irishmen rather than between Southern Irishmen and the British Government. The truce is being preserved rigorously, and there seems to be no justification in fact for rumours that either side has been using it as a cloak for the preparation of future hostilities.

THE END OF THE CONFERENCE.

Another and a memorable chapter in our Imperial history closes to-day with the completion of the work of the Prime Ministers of the Dominions, says The Times. They will meet for the last session under the presidency of Mr. Lloyd George, approve their report of their labours, and draw up a loyal address to the King as their final act before dispersing. Mr. Meighen, it will be remembered, left last week. General Smuts departs to-day, Mr. Hughes, Mr. Massey, and the Indian delegates will soon be returning to their respective countries. Some of the most important discussions held by the Prime Ministers were concerned with foreign affairs. These were extremely private, but there is reason to believe that the Prime Ministers were taken into the fullest confidence of the British Government, and that all that concerns the relations of this country with other nations was frankly exposed to them. The significance of these meetings, perhaps, reached its climax when the Prime Ministers of the Dominions took part in the Cabinet Council at which the reply to the French Note on Upper Silesia was considered last week.

NAVY DOGMA.

Discussing, editorially, Mr. Winston Churchill's speech in the House of Commons on Wednesday upon the revised Navy Estimates, The Times remarks that he was emphatic on the necessity that we should "rely at sea upon our own strength." He argued the British people to realise that we must "rest upon our own independent strength. We have always done so. Let us do so now more than ever." This implies, he tells the country, a "one-Power standard" which is "reasonable, moderate, and not invidious." Dogma is always treacherous, and dogma about the Navy was never more treacherous than to-day. The standard of strength for the British Navy has changed constantly, as Mr. Churchill himself showed on Wednesday, and a definite ratio of superiority to other Powers was the reply of this country to unmistakably hostile challenge on the seas. Great Britain trusted wholly to her "own independent strength," for the American Navy was never in recent times reckoned as hostile in calculating the necessities of construction here. If, then, we now adopt formally and for good the "one-Power standard," we look back to a worse state of affairs than before the war, for, as things stand now, "equality" with the naval strength of any other Power seems to condemn us to bid for rivalry in capital ship-construction with the United States—a disastrous prospect from which the American, the British and the Dominion peoples recoil with almost certainly influence the form, if not the substance of Sir James Craig's reply. Meanwhile the news from Southern Ireland continues to be good. Mr. de Valera and Mr. Arthur Griffith enjoy the support of the Sinn Fein Cabinet, and there is no reason to fear that a meeting of the Dail Eireann should upset their authority. There are still difficulties to be surmounted, but they are difficulties between Southern and Southern Irishmen rather than between Southern Irishmen and the British Government. The truce is being preserved rigorously, and there seems to be no justification in fact for rumours that either side has been using it as a cloak for the preparation of future hostilities.

RETURN OF GENERAL SIR NEVIL MACREADY.

General Sir Nevil Macready, Commander-in-Chief of the Forces in Ireland, returned to Dublin via Kingstown yesterday morning from his visit to the Prime Minister at Criccieth.

PERSIAN OIL FIELDS FIRE.

Reuter's Agency learns that a serious outbreak of fire is reported from the Swiakhanaf district of the Azerbaidjan Republic, the great oilfields there being on fire. It is stated that, owing to the attitude of the local population, the Government is unable to cope with the outbreak.

TURKISH STORIES DENIED.

The Greek Legation in London issues the following statement:—Reports from Turkish sources announcing the capture by the Turks of Ouchak, Afiun Karahissar, and Toulou, are denied categorically. These towns are safe and sound in our hands, while the Turks continue their flight without even a thought of stopping.

RAISULI'S OFFER TO SPAIN.

A Madrid telegram, dated Wednesday, states: Raisuli is reported to have made an offer to Spain to pacify the entire Spanish zone in Morocco on condition that he be appointed Caliph and Sultan of the territory in question. It is declared at the Government Departments that no news of the evacuation of Nador and its occupation by the rebel Moors has been received. Fires continue at Nador, and Kasba and Zeluan are in flames. The Moors are again bombarding Mount Arrui.

WONDERS OF WIRELESS.

The wonders of wireless telegraphy, its tremendous possibilities, and the mysterious causes which often make the transmission of messages far easier from the Antipodes to Paris than from intermediate stations (writes the Paris Correspondent of the Daily Telegraph), are the subject of an interesting article by General Ferrié. As already announced, the famous general has just won the Osiris prize of 100,000f. for his remarkable discoveries in radio-telegraphy, which were of immense service, not only to France, but to her Allies during the war. He remarks that one of the problems which will demand the attention of the Inter-Allied Conference on Wireless Telegraphy, over which he will shortly preside in Paris, will be the gauging the length of the atmospheric waves so that they can be employed to the best advantage at various stations throughout the world, and so that the mingling of different messages may be avoided. As showing how greatly the capacity of wireless telegraphy varies, General Ferrié says that the strength of the waves received from the same distant station vary in proportion of 1 to 100. Though solar rays seem to render the atmosphere less transparent to the waves, on the other hand, for some unknown reason, it is less easy to send messages at night than by day. Another curious fact is that at the Eiffel Tower—to give one instance—certain days messages from Honolulu are easily heard, and then for a fortnight the receiving instruments cannot pick up a sound. General Ferrié shows that many obscure factors, including the effects of electricity on the atmosphere, have yet to be explained.

THE NEW RELATIVITY.

Should there not be some restriction imposed on the use of the word "star," which suggests one idea to our budding Newtons and Einsteins, but quite another to patrons of the stage and film? We are told, and have very little difficulty in believing, that the following question and answer appeared on a London County Council school examination paper:—

"What star is it that has recently been measured and found to be of enormous size?"

"Fatty Arbuckle."

THE IRISH RAILWAYS.

MEETING OF MANAGERS.

A CRITICAL POSITION.

FURTHER DEPUTATION TO LONDON.

A meeting of the principal officials—chairmen, general managers, and secretaries—of all the railways in Ireland was held yesterday at the Railway Clearing House, Dawson street, Dublin, for the purpose of further considering the situation as it is affected by the action of the Labour members in the House of Commons and their attitude to the grant of £3,000,000 to compensate Irish railway companies for the withdrawal of the subsidy given them during the war, when wages were raised considerably and hours of labour were reduced. The bill to sanction this payment was blocked by Mr. J. H. Thomas, M.P., pending the establishment in Ireland of a National Negotiating Committee (such as has been set up in England) after decontrol, which takes place on the 15th of this month.

A previous meeting of the Irish managers appointed a committee to consult with Mr. Thomas in London with regard to the question of the conditions of service and wages of railway workers in Ireland. That Committee went to London and had an interview with Mr. Thomas, and they laid their report before the general meeting yesterday.

Sir William J. Goulding, Chairman of the Great Southern and Western Railway Company, presided, and among those present were—Mr. Fane Vernon, Chairman, Great Northern Railway; Mr. Bagwell, General Manager, Great Northern Railway; Mr. M. F. Keogh, General Manager, Midland Great Western Railway; Mr. E. A. Neale, General Manager, Great Southern and Western Railway; Mr. Cowie, General Manager, Northern Counties (Midland Committee) Railway; Mr. T. C. Moore, Listowel and Ballybunion Railway; Mr. Kennedy, Chairman, and Mr. Tooher, Manager, Tralee and Dingle Railway; Mr. J. W. Hill, Chairman, Dublin and Lucan Tramway; Mr. Hunt, Londonderry and Lough Swilly Railway; Mr. T. O'Donnell, representing the guaranteed railways; Mr. Kerr, Cork, Bandon, and South Coast Railway; Mr. Maguire, General Manager, Dublin and South-Eastern Railway.

No official statement concerning the conclusion arrived at was given to the representatives of the Press except that the same gentlemen who had been to see Mr. Thomas some days ago were deputed to proceed to London last evening. From this it may be inferred that the proposals brought over by the committee have not been entirely rejected.

One of the gentlemen who attended the meeting was asked to say what the decision of the meeting was, and he replied that matters were too critical for any disclosure in the Press at present.

INTER-ALLIED FINANCE.

SCOPE OF FORTHCOMING DISCUSSIONS.

Reuter's Correspondent, telegraphing from Paris, says:—The conference of the Allied Ministers of Finance and financial experts, which is to be held in Paris next week during the session of the Supreme Council, will cover a wide field, and should settle a number of difficult questions. France will be represented by M. Doumer, Minister of Finance, and M. Loucheur. British interests will be represented by Sir Robert Horne, Chancellor of the Exchequer, and Belgium is sending M. Theunis, Finance Minister.

The Conference will deal with a number of important points which the agreements concluded in May left in suspense. Firstly, the occupation of Germany will be discussed. The cost per man for the different Allies varies, not only on account of the exchange, but also because British and American troops cost much more to maintain in Germany than do French. It is understood here that the British Government has put forward a proposal by which Germany would pay for every British soldier a sum equal to the upkeep of every French soldier, plus an additional two gold marks per day. This proposal, it is believed, is regarded as acceptable by France, provided that the additional two marks are reduced and finally disappear as the rates of exchange of the £ sterling and the franc become more equal.

The determination of the amount of the Belgian debt to the Allies is another point which will probably come up for discussion. The date on which Germany is to begin the payments on account of the Belgian debt is another matter which has not yet been decided. The question of reparations in kind may also be discussed.

THE SUPREME COUNCIL.

It is announced that the forthcoming meeting of the Supreme Council will be opened at eleven o'clock on Monday morning. The various Allied Delegations will be the guests of the French Government, states a Paris telegram.

Reuter's Agency learns that, according to present arrangements, the agenda of the forthcoming meeting will, in all probability, include, apart from the question of Upper Silesia, the matters shall be made before the Council rises, and, in the event of the negotiations not having been advanced to the stage of a conference, that this statement shall be then made in secret session to the House.

Mr. Chamberlain—I cannot at this particular moment go beyond the statement that I made the other day.

Lieutenant-Colonel Archer Shee—Can the right hon. gentleman say whether the rebels have been given any time limit within which to give some sort of reply to the offer of the Government, in view of the fact that they are using this time to consolidate their organisation, and to set up Sinn Fein courts and intimidate people who attend the properly constituted courts of the land?

Mr. Chamberlain—I deprecate questions of this sort.

Several Hon. Members—Why?

Mr. Chamberlain—Because I think that they are not conducive to a peaceful solution. (Hear, hear.)

Viscount Curzon—Will the terms proposed to Sinn Fein be given to the House of Commons before we rise?

Mr. Chamberlain—I have already answered that question.

BRITISH SHIP SEIZED.

ALLEGED "WHISKEY RUNNING" INTO AMERICA.

Telegraphing from New York yesterday, Reuter's Correspondent says:—Warrants for the arrest of the officers and crew of the schooner Henry L. Marshall, which was seized for "liquor-running" last Monday night outside the three-mile limit, were issued to-day. The men are charged with violating the Volstead Law and attempting to defraud the Customs. The schooner, which was flying the British flag, is alleged to have had on board whiskey to the value of £30,000.

GREEK SUPREMACY.

CONSTANTINOPLE NOT TO BE ATTACKED.

An Athens telegram, dated Wednesday, says:—An authoritative Greek statement on the fighting up to 21st July says:—In consequence of the successive defeats and the enormous losses inflicted on them, the Turks are no longer in a position to offer serious resistance.

As to future operations, the general object of the Greek Army is to destroy the remnant of the Turkish Army. The report that a Greek division was going to march on Constantinople is officially denied.

RUSSO-NORWEGIAN TRADE AGREEMENT.

A telegram, dated yesterday, from Reuter's Correspondent in Christiania, says:—The President of the Norwegian Delegation, which has now been negotiating with the Russian Delegation in Stockholm with a view to the conclusion of a commercial agreement with Russia, to-day telegraphed to the President of the Russian Delegation informing him that the Norwegian Government had accepted it in all its essentials.

RUSSIAN RELIEF MEASURES AND CONDITIONS.

A Paris telegram, dated Thursday, states:—The Echo de Paris declares that if the Allies make sacrifices to provide Russia with food, certain guarantees should be given by Russia in regard to personal liberty and Moscow's attitude towards the neighbouring States. It would, the newspaper says, be inconceivable that after having relieved the distress arising directly from Communism, the Powers should have to meet an attack by the Red Army.

PONTIFICAL APPOINTMENTS.

A Rome telegram, dated Wednesday, states: Monsignor Jules Girard (Lyons), of the Society of African Missions, has been appointed Apostolic Vicar of the Nile Delta. Monsignor Ferdinand Perier, of the Jesuit Order, has been appointed Coadjutor to the Archbishop of Calcutta, with right of succession. The Pope has appointed Monsignor Henry Grosch, of Nottingham, Apostolic Protonotary, and Monsignor Emanuel Vassallo and Paolo Mangion of Malta, and Michael Hourighan and Michael Maher, of Adelaide, Domestic Prelates. His Holiness has conferred the Military Knight Commander of the Order of St. Gregory the Great on Admiral Edward Charlton, and the Knighthood of St. Gregory the Great on Sebastian Fernando, of Colombo, and Alphonse Renaud, of Montreal. He has also appointed Monsignor James Redmond, of Liverpool, to be Private Chamberlain.

DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE.

Reuter's Correspondent, in a telegram from Washington, says:—It is understood that before formally suggesting Armistice Day as the date for the opening of the Disarmament Conference the State Department was informed by Great Britain of her willingness to accept any date chosen. Interchanges of opinion among the Powers concerned as to the scope of the conference are still in progress. The United States hopes that the Yap question may be adjusted in the meantime.

THE PEACE MOVEMENT

DAIL EIREANN SUMMONED FOR AUGUST 16TH.

THE ULSTER DIFFICULTY.

The following was issued last night as a supplement to the Irish Bulletin:—

"A meeting of Dail Eireann is being summoned for the 16th inst.

"Notices of the meeting are being sent to all members."

The decision to summon a meeting of Dail Eireann indicates that the peace negotiations have reached a point at which the Sinn Fein leaders deem it wise to consult all their colleagues before proceeding further.

Those whose information is usually trustworthy express the view that one result of the meeting of Dail Eireann will be the appointment of delegates to a Peace Conference in London. It is recognised, however, that the main difficulty will arise over North-East Ulster's attitude; but the opinion seems to be growing that, should the Northern Unionists persist in their determination to keep aloof from the rest of Ireland, county option should be applied.

Sir James Craig's return to Belfast to consult his Cabinet is another sign that matters are now taking a definite shape, and it is assumed that he, like Mr. de Valera, will discuss the situation with his followers before embarking on further negotiations.

Meantime there is no cause to apprehend a deadlock. There is, on the contrary, reason to believe that peace prospects are steadily improving.

Mr. de Valera was again at the Dublin Mansion House yesterday, and accorded many interviews. It is stated that he will not apply for the release of the thirty-six members of Dail Eireann who are in prison or interned, but that summonses to attend the meeting will be sent to them, and that no obstacle will be placed in the way of their release.

NORTHERN CABINET MEETS.

NO INVITATION FROM MR. DE VALERA.

Telegraphing from Belfast last night, our own Correspondent said:—The Ulster Premier, Sir James Craig, arrived in Belfast this morning from London, via Stranraer.

On arriving in Belfast, Sir James, who was unaccompanied, declined to make any statement for publication, but it was understood that one of the principal objects of the visit was to consult the members of the Northern Cabinet upon matters connected with the peace negotiations.

Later in the day a meeting of the Northern Cabinet was held at the temporary headquarters of the Government, Cabin Hill, Knock. There was a full attendance of Ministers. The agenda contained a considerable amount of routine business which had accumulated during the absence of the Premier, in addition to matters relating to the peace negotiations.

At the close of the proceedings the following official report was issued:—

"The Cabinet of Northern Ireland met to-day, Sir James Craig, Bart., presiding. There were also present:—The Marquis of Londonderry, Minister of Education; Right Hon. H. M. Pollock, Minister of Finance; Right Hon. E. M. Archdale, Minister of Agriculture and Commerce; Right Hon. J. M. Andrews, Minister of Labour, and Right Hon. Sir Dawson Bates, Minister of Home Affairs. Colonel W. B. Spender, Secretary of the Cabinet, was in attendance. No statement will be issued."

I understand upon good authority that, contrary to reports, Sir James Craig has received no invitation from Mr. de Valera to a further conference, and that many of the reports in circulation are merely speculative. There is no change in the situation so far as Ulster is concerned, and nothing has arisen to prejudice its position in any way. A further meeting of the Northern Cabinet is to be held this morning, but it is expected that it will also be strictly private, and no statement will be issued.

The Press Association says:—The report that a new crisis has arisen because of an alleged Ulster decision is incorrect. No decision has been come to, except as to the conference recently suggested by Mr. Lloyd George. The situation is substantially unchanged.

THE GOVERNMENT'S OFFER.

QUESTION IN PARLIAMENT.

Lieutenant-Colonel Archer Shee asked the Prime Minister, in the House of Commons yesterday, whether, in view of the immense importance of the terms of the offer to the Government to Sinn Fein, with reference to the questions of fiscal independence; whether the South Irish Government are to take over any part of the national debt; whether the arms of Sinn Feiners are to be handed in; or whether the country is to be allowed to remain, as far as the Sinn Feiners are concerned, an armed nation; whether the right of the Navy to use the harbours of Ireland is to be retained, and what provisions have been suggested, and what guarantees have been required for the safety of the persons and property of loyalists in Ireland, he will give definite assurance that a statement explaining the attitude of the Government upon all these matters shall be made before the House rises, and, in the event of the negotiations not having been advanced to the stage of a conference, that this statement shall be then made in secret session to the House.

Mr. Chamberlain—I cannot at this particular moment go beyond the statement that I made the other day.

Lieutenant-Colonel Archer Shee—Can the right hon. gentleman say whether the rebels have been given any time limit within which to give some sort of reply to the offer of the Government, in view of the fact that they are using this time to consolidate their organisation, and to set up Sinn Fein courts and intimidate people who attend the properly constituted courts of the land?

Mr. Chamberlain—I deprecate questions of this sort.

Several Hon. Members—Why?

Mr. Chamberlain—Because I think that they are not conducive to a peaceful solution. (Hear, hear.)

Viscount Curzon—Will the terms proposed to Sinn Fein be given to the House of Commons before we rise?

Mr. Chamberlain—I have already answered that question.

UNIONIST MEMBERS AND THE NEGOTIATIONS.

Another meeting of Unionist members who are opposed to the policy of negotiating with Sinn Fein was held at the House of Commons yesterday. It was agreed that no action could be taken until the terms offered by the Government had been officially published.

SOUTHERN LOYALISTS' DEFENCE FUND.

At the annual meeting of the Southern Loyalists' Defence Fund, held at the House of Commons yesterday, Captain Foxcroft, presiding, mentioned that during the year between one and two hundred cases of distress due to Sinn Fein action had been dealt with, some of them of a very affecting character. In the early part of the year most of the cases were those of people still living in Ireland, but latterly assistance had been given to a number of persons who had been driven from that country. Captain Foxcroft was re-elected chairman and Lord Salisbury hon. treasurer.

THE FATE OF MRS. LINDSAY.

WHY SHE WAS SHOT.

STATEMENT BY THE SOLICITOR-GENERAL.

Lieutenant-Colonel Archer Shee asked the Chief Secretary, in the House of Commons yesterday, whether he had seen the reply given by the so-called Minister of Defence of the rebel Government in Ireland to Mrs. E. Benson with reference to the kidnapping and murder of Mrs. Lindsay and also of her butler; whether Mrs. Lindsay did convey information to the Crown forces with reference to an ambush; whether the letter which Mrs. Lindsay wrote to General Strickland pointing out the consequences to herself should the captured rebels be executed was written while this lady was in the custody of the Sinn Feiners, and if he could state why, if Mrs. Lindsay did give information of the ambush, proper protection was not accorded to her, in view of the obvious danger of her being kidnapped and murdered.

Mr. T. W. Brown (Solicitor-General for Ireland)—My attention has been called to the letter of the so-called Minister of Defence, a copy of which I am circulating with the official report. As regards the second part of the question, I am informed that Mrs. Lindsay did warn the Crown forces of a possible ambush in the hope of saving the lives of members of the Crown forces. In doing so she acted as every good citizen in Great Britain or Ireland is bound to act. As regards the third part of the question, a letter purporting to come from Mrs. Lindsay after her disappearance was received by General Strickland. In accordance with the settled policy of the authorities it was decided not to pay any attention to it, because it was the common practice of the rebels to threaten to murder people if certain of their adherents who had been duly convicted were executed. In reply to the last part of the question—At the time that Mrs. Lindsay gave information to the Crown forces she neither asked for protection nor was there any reason to believe that it would become known that she gave such information, or that the rebels would have murdered a delicate old lady if the facts came to their knowledge. On somewhat similar occasions houses have been burned, but this was the first occasion on which they murdered a woman in such circumstances, simply because she had done her duty as a loyal citizen. Every effort was made to bring to justice those responsible for the kidnapping and murdering of Mrs. Lindsay. In view, however, of the agreement for the cessation of hostilities it has been clearly impossible to carry the matter any further at the present time. I have no information regarding the fate of James Clarke, her butler or groom, beyond that he was kidnapped at the same time as his employer, and probably suffered the same fate.

Colonel Archer Shee—In view of the fact that this lady gave her life for her country, and that she gave information which resulted in the saving of the lives of a number of the Crown forces, why were not proper steps taken for her protection whether she asked for it or not, seeing that the Sinn Fein rebels have murdered seven women since January 2nd?

Mr. Brown—It was not expected or believed that any such action would be taken.

Colonel Ashley—Are we to understand that because there is a truce a man who writes to acknowledge that he has murdered an old woman is not going to be had up for murder?

Mr. Brown—I understand that no steps will be taken in the matter until the cessation of the truce.

Mr. Moles—Is it a fact that the information communicated by this lady to the authorities leaked out to the Sinn Feiners through official sources?

Mr. Brown—I am not in a position to confirm or deny that rumour.

Mr. Thorne—How long is it since this happened, and why has not it been brought before the House before?

Mr. Brown—The kidnapping happened on 17th February, but I was not responsible for not bringing it before the House.

STATEMENT IN THE HOUSE OF LORDS.

In the House of Lords yesterday,

Lord Selborne drew attention to the murder of Mrs. Lindsay in Ireland, and asked whether she had done anything more than any loyal citizen was bound to do, namely, to give information to the police against criminals as was acquired by her in the normal experience of her daily life. He said that Mrs. Lindsay was foully murdered by a gang of cowardly assassins, and an attempt had been made deliberately to besmirch her reputation by attaching to her the stigma of a spy and alienate sympathy from her. If she only did her duty as a loyal citizen, her case would be parallel to that of Nurse Cavell, and she would be nothing less than a martyr in the eyes of the whole Empire.

The Earl of Crawford said that the Government had very little information beyond that which had appeared in the Press. He gathered that the noble earl wanted nothing more than an assurance that the Government repudiated in the warmest fashion any allegation that this lady did anything which was inconsistent with her duty as a loyal subject of the Crown. That assurance was whole-heartedly given.

SAD RESULT OF A PLEASURE CRUISE.

The return, in a terribly battered condition, of the smack Hopeful to Littlehampton, has brought news of the tragic result of the pleasure cruise which the Rev. G. Gordon, of Angmering, and a party of friends recently took in the South of Spain. While returning home across the Bay of Biscay, the vessel, which is some fifty tons burden, run into rough weather, and Mr. Gordon and another of the party, Mr. Scott, were swept overboard by the heavy sea. The skipper, Captain Solly, of Ramsgate, cruised about for several hours without sighting the missing men. Mr. Gordon, who is an expert swimmer, kept Mr. Scott afloat till he was picked up by a passing steamer, but Mr. Scott, who had received a broken limb, in addition to other injuries, was then dead. Mr. Gordon was landed at Antwerp.

EGYPTIAN NATIONALISTS' MISGIVINGS.

A telegram from Reuter's Correspondent in Cairo says—Sheikh Abdel Azize Shawish, who was editor of the defunct extreme Nationalist organ, El Lewa, which, it seems, is to be revived on the 10th August under the title El Lewa el Misri, has telegraphed to the native Press from Berne as follows:—The silence of the official Egyptian Delegation is causing uneasiness here. The President must give the nation a complete account of what he has so far obtained before entering on any fresh negotiations. I exhort my compatriots to close their ranks, particularly at this critical moment, and remain firm in their demand for the liberty of the country.

IMPERIAL CONFERENCE.

The final sitting of the Imperial Conference will be held to-day. A complete Empire policy has been decided upon as a result of the conferences.

IRISH LABOUR UNREST.

RESISTANCE TO WAGE REDUCTIONS.

UNEMPLOYMENT STATISTICS.

The question of the hour—second only to the political question, which is now the subject of much concern at the Dublin Mansion House—is the Labour question. Labour was highly paid during the late war, and now, when Government subsidies are being withdrawn, and there is talk of reduction of wages in the railway world, Labour is up in arms against any attempt to cut down its standard of living. That is Labour's way of putting it. Labour ignores, or pretends to ignore, the economic conditions to which all, Labour and capital alike, must bow. Wages all round have already been reduced in Great Britain, where employment, trade, and commerce are in much more promising circumstances than they are in Ireland. To any suggestion of this kind Labour replies that the conditions that prevail in England are very different from those in Ireland at present.

THE COST OF LIVING.

If the cost of living has gone down in England during the last few months, there has been, Labour leaders say, no corresponding fall in Ireland, and wages had not at any time mounted to the figures that obtained in England. If the declaration of the President of the Irish Trades Union Congress on Wednesday that we are going to have "one of the greatest industrial upheavals in this country that have ever taken place in the history of the Irish Labour Movement," comes to be realised, the outlook, indeed, is a dark one. This declaration was made when it was well known to Labour leaders, as stated by one of them, that the country at the present moment was "faced with 130,000 unemployed, representing a total of 400,000 people unfed and under-fed." He blamed the employers and the capitalist system for this state of affairs. Mr. Thomas Johnson spoke strongly on the situation, and gave it as his opinion that, if employers as a whole did not do something to meet "the coming danger," it would mean that there would be "definite social revolution." It may be hoped that all such expressions are mere brutum fulmina, and that wiser counsels will prevail.

A CALAMITY.

It would be nothing short of a calamity if the already swollen ranks of the unemployed were increased. Only last week a large body of mechanical engineers in Dublin ceased to work because they refused to accept an immediate reduction of 5s. a week, and a further reduction of a like amount a month hence.

The railway workers are greatly perturbed by the notices given that wages must be reduced in order to keep the railways going. Not only will there be a reduction in wages, but there will be a reduction in the numbers at present employed. On a rough estimate there are between 18,000 and 20,000 employés, and it is calculated that this number will be reduced by a couple of thousand. Those who will have to go out are those who had been most recently employed, and they are promised the first chance of re-engagement. It is hoped that in the near future an authority will be set up for dealing with all questions of labour and wages.

UNEMPLOYMENT STATISTICS.

Unemployment in Ireland reached its highest point on the 17th of June last, when the number registered as seeking employment was 133,981. Of that number, 90,350 were men, 38,079 women, and juveniles—boys 2,794, girls 2,758. There has been, according to the statistics compiled at the Dublin Branch of the Ministry of Labour and the other branches throughout Ireland, a fall in the number, since the total registered on July 29th was 118,215. The figures here given do not include those who were working short time. In the middle of June these numbered 55,347, and that figure had fallen to 49,087 on Saturday last.

In general terms unemployment is more extensive this year than it was at this period last year, but this may be due to the benefits which are distributed under the Unemployment Act. The figures given above show that the amount of unemployment is at present approximately what it was in the middle of April last. In the week July 15th to 22nd there was a decrease of 5,661, and in the previous week a decrease of 1,614.

In April last, according to Mr. Thomas Johnson, the number of unemployed in Dublin City was about 15,000, and in Belfast about 17,000, besides about 30,000 on short time. The Labour Exchange was unable yesterday to supply details as to the number of unemployed in Belfast, Cork, Limerick, and other places at present.

SIR M. BARLOW.

Sir M. Barlow, replying on the debate, referred to the position of the miners still unemployed, and who were receiving no unemployment benefit. He said that the decision of the umpire in these cases was final, and could not be reviewed by the Minister of Labour.

The Vote was carried by 226 votes to 77.

At ten o'clock the guillotine fell on the report stage of all outstanding votes on account of Civil Service Estimates. As on the previous evening on the Committee stage, the votes were put in groups, some of which were allowed to go through without opposition, while others were challenged by the Opposition and voted on and carried.

OTHER BILLS.

The Consolidated Fund Appropriation Bill was brought in and read a first time.

The Criminal Law Amendment Bill was considered on report.

THE FATE OF THE AIRSHIPS.

Replying to Mr. Raper, Mr. Churchill, answering on behalf of the Air Ministry, said that the decision taken by the Conference as to the fate of the airships was best explained by quoting the following resolution, adopted on August 2:—"The Imperial Conference, having carefully considered the report of Mr. Churchill's Committee on Imperial Communications, are of opinion that the proposals contained therein should be submitted for the consideration of the Governments and Parliaments of the different parts of the Empire—on the understanding that the cost will be in the region of £1,800 per month. They recommend that, pending such consideration, the existing material so far as useful for the development of Imperial air communication should be retained." With regard to the disposal of the Service and civilian airship personnel, the former would be absorbed within the Royal Air Force, while the latter, all of whom were serving on temporary engagements, had already been given notice, or would receive notice. The Expert Committee's report on airships would be published as a section of the report of the proceedings of the Conference.

THE ECONOMY COMMITTEE.

Mr. Asquith asked the Leader of the House what was the earliest opportunity for a discussion on the appointment and functions of the new Committee announced by the Chancellor of the Exchequer on Wednesday.

Mr. Chamberlain said that if a discussion on the matter was thought necessary the Consolidated Fund Bill, which would be taken the week after next, would afford both the earliest and most convenient occasion.

PARLIAMENT.

THE UNEMPLOYMENT PROBLEM.

WORK OF EXCHANGES.

On the report of a vote of £12,445,400 for the Ministry of Labour, in the House of Commons yesterday, Mr. Myers formally moved a reduction of the vote by £100.

Dr. Macnamara said that he placed first in the Ministry's activities the work of negotiation, conciliation, and arbitration. There were in existence seventy-one Joint Industrial Councils or Interim Industrial Reconstruction Committees, with associated District Councils and Committees, and 3½ millions of workpeople were covered by those organisations. As to the Trade Boards, there were thirteen of these at the armistice. There were now sixty-two. They covered over three million workpeople. Considerable controversy had arisen as to the utility of the Trade Boards. He proposed during the autumn to give the whole matter his very careful attention. Dealing with the unprecedented volume of work thrown on the Ministry by trade depression and consequent unemployment, he said that the policy of the Government had been to develop wherever possible the provision of useful work, with preference to ex-Service men. The number of men so employed was about 100,000. The other main line was to make such provision as was possible for those without work, and quite unable to obtain it, this provision being secured by the succession of Unemployment Insurance Acts.

UNEMPLOYMENT IN JUNE.

When unemployment reached its maximum at the end of June, and over two million workers were registered as wholly unemployed, with nearly another million working short time, practically all those who were genuinely and unavoidably unemployed, except those involved in trade disputes, were receiving some assistance, week by week, from the Unemployment Fund. To meet the emergency, and make the benefits immediately available, large temporary additions had to be made to the Employment Exchange Staffs. In the course of the year ending in March last 861,000 vacancies were filled by the Employment Exchanges. He hoped, as we left unfavourable conditions behind, that that side of the work of the Exchanges, which dealt chiefly with the placing of men and women in employment, would be very much more developed. It ought to be, from January to July 8th some 77,000 women had been placed in employment, in domestic service of one sort or another, by the much-abused Exchanges. But the position was different in other branches of industry. For the week ending July 15 there were 2,014,000 men, women, boys, and girls registered as unemployed, and there were only 23,600 vacancies to offer them. He appealed to employers to notify these vacancies to the Exchanges. As trade improved the future of the Exchanges and the part that they should play in our social provisions was a problem that needed close and careful consideration. There were now 950 branch employment exchanges in Great Britain, and he had taken steps to close eighty-four of these, while by the end of the year he would have closed at least 150.

INDUSTRIAL TRAINING.

The provision of facilities for the industrial training of disabled ex-Service men was very much expedited during the past financial year. There were now sixty-six instructional factories, in which training was being actually carried out, as against ninety-three in April, 1920. The training of about 47,000 men had been completed, and there were 25,000 in training with a waiting list of about 17,000. In the case of young fellows who left their apprenticeship to join the Colours, the department had to assist them to complete their apprenticeship. Some 27,000 such apprenticeships had been completed, and 18,500 were being completed. Provision was made in the estimates for the training in the skilled crafts of the building industry of 50,000 able-bodied young ex-Service men or ex-Service men already engaged as builders' labourers. That was one of the schemes that had been most hardly hit by trade depression. Over 21,000 men had expressed their desire to take up this training, but progress was woefully slow.

At the end of March, 1920, there were about 15,600 firms on the King's Roll for the employment of disabled ex-Service men, employing 117,000 disabled men. Now there were 27,300 firms on the roll employing 291,000 men, but there were still about 22,000 disabled ex-Service men registered as unemployed. Fifteen months ago 279 local authorities were on the Roll out of 2,514 in England and Wales. There were now 845. There was no reason why the others should not follow suit. In Scotland, out of 335 local authorities, sixty-nine were now on the Roll as against thirteen fifteen months ago. The peak of unemployment was reached at the close of June. During July the number of persons registered as wholly unemployed fell by 382,000, and in the first three weeks of July the numbers on short time fell by 381,000.

MR. CLYNES.

Mr. Clynes said that he admitted that enormous good had been done by the conciliation work of the Ministry of Labour. Some of the Joint Industrial Councils, he said, were threatened with breakdown because a number of employers were not displaying a spirit of reasonableness and willingness to arbitrate on matters of difference between them and their employés. He regretted the break up of the Provincial Joint Committee appointed by the National Industrial Conference in February, 1919. There was the greatest need for such a body. The House was about to rise for a long recess, and Dr. Macnamara had made no reference to the hundreds of thousands of men and women, who, through unemployment, would be destitute long before Christmas. Their benefits under the Insurance Act have run out. The Government ought not to leave this problem as if it would solve itself.

Major Boyd-Carpenter, in a maiden speech, criticised the finance of the Labour Ministry, and the employment of young girls at good salaries when so many ex-Service men were in want of work.

MR. ADAMSON.

Mr. Adamson stated that about one-third of the men in his own district had been unable to get work in the mines since the settlement. Other districts were in a similar position. Seventy-five per cent. of these men had been in receipt of Unemployment Insurance benefit, though they had paid for it. They and their families were destitute.

Lady Astor said that she appreciated the difficulties of the Labour Minister. His job, which would be a troublesome one under a party with a settled policy—(laughter)—was all the more difficult in a Coalition, where some thought that the country was best served by going backwards, while others wished to go forward. In the catering trade the sweating among women was appalling. Newcastle-on-Tyne was one of the worst places. There the wages were 4s. a week for ten hours a day, and 5s. for eleven hours.

Mr. Neville Chamberlain said that the Minister of Labour had done well to emphasise the value and importance of the constructive work done by his department. Labour Exchanges were a German importation, which, perhaps, it would have been better to have kept out of this country.

Mr. George Roberts said that the creation of the Employment Exchanges had been fully justified. The Trade Boards were a necessity. Unemployment was going to be acute during the winter, despite improving trade, and it was the duty of the Government to devise plans for relieving the lot of the workless. (Hear, hear.)

PRIME MINISTER ON THE EISTEDDFOD.

THE GRANDMOTHER OF PARLIAMENTS.

THE FIRST PEACE SOCIETY.

In a message dated Carnarvon, Thursday, the Press Association's Correspondent says:—The Prime Minister, accompanied by Mrs. Lloyd George and Miss Megan Lloyd George, attended the ceremony of Chairing the Bard at the Welsh National Eisteddfod at Carnarvon to-day. The Premier received an ovation from the thirteen thousand of his fellow-countrymen who filled the huge pavilion where this year's festival is being held. The Archbishop of Wales presided, and those present included:—Lady Patricia Ramsay, the Marquis and Marchioness of Anglesey, Mr. McCurdy, K.C., M.P.; General Sir Owen Thomas, M.P.; the Bishop of St. Davids, and Major and Mrs. Gwilym Lloyd George.

Mrs. Lloyd George invested the chaired Bard, Mr. R. J. J. Rowlands, of Liverpool.

The Prime Minister, speaking in Welsh, as General President of the Eisteddfod, said:—The Eisteddfod is ancient, but she is young and full of energy to-day, although wearing the white hair of veneration. The Prime

ACTION AGAINST BELFAST FIRM.

BIG CONTRACT FOR HANDKERCHIEFS.

The hearing was resumed yesterday at Belfast Assizes, before Mr. Justice Moore, of the action brought by Max Muller, Koller, and Hermann Muller, trading as Muller-Staub & Co., 32 Brandschenkestrasse, Zurich, Switzerland, who claimed damages amounting to £10,000 2d. from Messrs. M'Bride and Williams, Ormeau avenue, Belfast, for alleged breach of certain contracts for the delivery of cotton handkerchiefs.

Richard Williams, a director in the defendant company, said that the firm had been in existence for about 40 years, and had been a private limited company for the past 15. The company had done a very extensive trade in cotton handkerchiefs, and had been dealing with the plaintiff firm, their connection with it having begun in 1915. Referring to the conversation he had with Mr. Lees at the War Trade Intelligence Department, witness said that he asked Mr. Lees whether it was safe for his firm to ship goods to Muller-Staub, and he replied that it was not, and warned him against it strongly. He did not then act on the advice, and continued shipping on licence. In 1918 he had an interview with Mr. Powicke. Mr. Powicke told him that the opinion of the War Trade Department had not changed. On returning to Belfast he had an interview with a Mr. Hinde, an agent in Switzerland in the handkerchief trade, and as a result of the conversation witness decided that he must have legal advice as to his position. He then consulted his solicitor.

His lordship reserved judgment.

"KIDNAPPED" BELFAST EX-SOLDIER RELEASED.

The Belfast ex-soldier, James Walls, who was kidnapped on Monday evening from his home at Tramfield street, New Lodge road, returned home on Wednesday night. He was forcibly removed in a taxi by three men, and taken to an unknown destination. He is nothing the worse for his adventure, and declines to make any statement as to his experiences.

BELFAST LINEN TRADE.

IMPROVED DEMAND.

The official report issued by the Belfast Linen Trade for the week ending 3rd August states:—There is no change to report in the Irish flax markets, as supplies are still small, and consequently all fibre offered is quickly bought up at unchanged prices. On the Continent there is nothing of interest to report.

YARNS.—The better feeling, as lately reported, is maintained. Transactions are more numerous, and whilst the greater number of them are on a moderate scale, some large lots have changed hands. Where spinners with standing machinery are willing to accept current prices they have made considerable headway in disposing of stock lots.

WEAVERS.—There are welcome signs of more real interest being taken in trade. Larger quantities have been placed than for some time past. Coarse goods, sheers and damasks have participated in the demand. Buyers, now that wages are settled, are coming in to find the shortage of raw material, are coming to realise that the bottom has been touched, and that they are not likely to do better by further waiting.

MERCHANTS.—A much better tone than that of a couple of months ago. There is decidedly more doing.

THE BELFAST SHIPYARDS.

SIX MONTHS' OUTPUT.

The shipbuilding industry in Belfast is at present passing through a slack period in common with other shipbuilding centres in Great Britain and Ireland. No vessels were launched during the month of July, which included the annual holiday period. Taking the output for the past six months, Belfast is in a better position than some other centres, although there has been a certain amount of unemployment owing to the cancellation and suspension of orders in consequence of the high costs and general trade depression.

The tonnage launched for the first half of the present year is slightly higher than during the same period in 1920. The comparative figures are:—1920—nine vessels and four barges, with a total tonnage of 54,000; 1921—nine steamers, with a total of 54,500 tons.

Messrs. Workman, Clark, and Co. have launched seven of these vessels, while Messrs. Harland and Wolff, Ltd., have only launched two this year, the motor-ship Somersetshire and the British Petroleum Company's tanker Inverurie. All the seven launched by the first-mentioned firm are completed, except the Lamport and Holt liner Vasdyck (13,300 tons), which will run trials in a few weeks. Both firms have had a considerable amount of reconditioning work.

DUBLIN TRAM CONDUCTOR KILLED.

FATAL ACCIDENT AT MERRION GATES.

John Keeney, aged 27 years, a conductor in the service of the Dublin United Tramways Company, was accidentally killed yesterday afternoon. He was engaged on the No. 5 route—from Phœnix Park to Merrion Gates. When the car reached Merrion Gates he pulled the trolley off the wire, and was swinging it round for the return journey, when he was struck by a motor car. He was unconscious when picked up, and without delay he was taken to the Royal City of Dublin Hospital, but was dead on admission.

MOTOR ACCIDENT AT INCHICORE.

Two members of the Royal Irish Constabulary were injured in a motor accident at Bluebell, Inchicore, on Wednesday evening, and were taken to Steevens' Hospital, where they were detained as patients. It appears that a motor car in which they, with some others, were driving in the direction of the Naas road collided with a char-à-banc from the Southern Motor Garage. Both vehicles were considerably damaged.

FATAL ACCIDENT AT BLACKROCK

BOY CYCLIST KILLED BY MOTOR CAR.

A boy messenger was knocked off a bicycle and killed yesterday evening by a collision with a motor car in Main street, Blackrock. It is impossible to state how the accident occurred. The boy was Edward Perry, aged 16 years, 20 Brookfield terrace, Blackrock, and the driver of the car Mr. Henry Girtan Grantham, an English commercial traveller, living at 12 Clarinda Park, East, Kingstown. The accident occurred opposite Messrs. Lynch and O'Brien's shop. The two left wheels of the motor car passed over the boy's head, and killed him. He was taken to Monkstown Hospital, but life was already extinct. Mr. Grantham has been arrested by the Blackrock police.

HORSE SHOW WEEK GAIETIES AT RATHMINES.

The Leinster Cricket Club, Rathmines, announces elsewhere in our columns this morning details of the festivities which it has arranged for Horse Show Week. The club proposes to hold "all sports" meeting towards the end of the season, and next week's gaieties are in the nature of a preliminary carnival. On every evening from Tuesday until Saturday, inclusive, next week a promenade band concert will be given on the lawn at Rathmines. The Dublin Metropolitan Police Band, "Ireland's Own," and St. James's Band have been engaged. There will be dancing on every one of the five nights in the hall adjoining the club grounds. On Tuesday and Wednesday the hours will be from 9 o'clock until 1 o'clock the next morning; on both Thursday and Saturday nights there will be carnivals from 10 o'clock till 3 o'clock. On Friday night at 10 o'clock a grand fancy dress ball will be held, at which prizes will be offered for the best costumes. The enterprising promoters have arranged a luxurious café and lounge off the ballroom, which, with its specially prepared floor and Mr. Clarke Barry's orchestra, should prove to be a notable addition to the attractions and gaieties of Dublin during the great show week.

ST. AUGUSTINE'S CHURCH.

THE RE-OPENING SERVICE.

The re-opening Service in St. Augustine's Church, North Circular road, will be held this evening at 8 o'clock, and will be presided over by the Archbishop of Dublin. A new Communion rail has been erected. There have been other important improvements, which should add to the comfort of the congregation. St. Augustine's Church is one of the oldest in Dublin, and the members of the congregation are to be congratulated on being able to raise sufficient funds by voluntary effort to carry out the improvements and to purchase the ground on which the church stands.

IRISH TRADES CONGRESS.

to grind it into flour, and the railwaymen and dockers to handle it free.

The resolution was passed.

CO-OPERATION.

Mr. O'Neill (Birr) proposed a resolution urging on the National Executive the formation by trades unionists and co-operators of a joint policy based on the fostering of a close alliance between co-operation and trade unionism in promoting and helping co-operative enterprise, and in taking joint political, educational, and propagandist action locally, nationally, and internationally.

Mr. W. Carpenter (Dublin) seconded.

Mr. John Farren (Dublin) said that they wanted co-operation in all the industries in Ireland and thereby keep trades unionists in the country.

Mr. Thomas Johnson said that the resolution asked them to take joint political action, which they were willing to do if assisted in their own line of political action.

The resolution was carried with one dissentient.

LAND POLICY.

Mr. O'Neill (Birr) proposed, and Mr. Lynch (Fermoy) seconded, that the National Executive prepare a statement or scheme dealing with land policy.

Mr. Lambert (Sligo) said that in that town the farmers raised the price of milk to 9d. a quart, but the Trades Council took the matter in hands, got cows, and supplied the milk at 4d. a quart, and subsequently 5d. The farmers then came down to 5d. There would not, he said, be a blade of grass in the County Sligo that they would not commandeer within the next twelve months. (Hear, hear.)

The resolution was carried.

STANDARD OF LIVING.

Mr. Thomas Johnson, on behalf of the National Executive, moved a resolution to the effect that, having regard to the movement of prices of Irish agricultural produce in the British market, and the necessity of maintaining and improving the standard of living for all who toil, whether as wage workers or as peasants living on the produce of their own labour, Congress called upon the National authority for legislation decreeing (1) that the first charge upon the produce of agriculture should be a decent livelihood for all engaged in that industry; and (2) that the peasant holder of land should be freed from all liability for rent or purchase annuities until the income derivable from his holding, assuming it was fairly tilled and tended, was sufficient to maintain himself and his family at the standard of living common to workmen in urban districts.

Mr. Cummins (National Teachers), in seconding the resolution, said that if the small farmer came into the national movement they would find it a tower of strength to all.

After discussion, the resolution was carried unanimously.

HOUSING.

Mr. McPartlin (Dublin) moved a resolution approving of the formation of the Guild of Building Workers in Dublin, and congratulating the unions in the building industry on this experiment towards finding a solution both of the wage problem and the housing problem. He invited the delegates to pay a visit to the houses being erected by the Guild in Dublin.

Mr. Thomas Irwin (Dublin) seconded the motion, and outlined the origin of the Guild and the scheme which it was carrying out. He mentioned that ten houses had already been erected, and it had entered into a contract for fifteen more houses.

After discussion, the resolution was passed.

Alderman W. O'Brien moved a resolution demanding that the mineral resources of Ireland, including coal, shall be acknowledged and treated as national property.

Mr. S. Byrne seconded the motion, which was passed.

Resolutions were also passed urging all trades and workers' councils and all Labour members to use their influence in favour of a shorter working week for nurses, and expressing the opinion that where vacancies occur in the nursing staff employed by local authorities only members of an affiliated trade or professional union should be employed.

A proposal was put forward by the Irish Clerical Workers' Union directing the National Executive and affiliated unions to seek an expression of opinion from the Women's Labour Council when they are called on to deal with issues wherein the interests of women and children are primarily concerned.

The resolution led to much discussion, objection being taken by a number of speakers to a division of the ranks of labour on account of sex.

An amendment that the next business be proceeded with was passed by a large majority.

A resolution was passed recommending that all members of trade unions in prison for other than criminal offences should have their union cards kept clear, and that all possible steps be taken to keep open the positions held by the man until their release.

A resolution strongly disapproving of the action of labourers—members of organised unions—doing house or ship painters' work, and asking that Congress empower the Executive to call upon the Executive of the union concerned to enter into a signed agreement whereby encroachments by their members on the house and ship painting craft should cease, was discussed.

The resolution was defeated by 89 to 86 votes.

A Delegate—We can go back to the country now and say that this Congress approves of the handymas. ("No, no," and "Yes, yes.")

The President said that if the matter went out to the public in the light it had been taken there it might permanently injure the labour movement in the country, so he would suggest that the mover of the resolution put some other words into it so that they could all be unanimous.

Mr. Marsh, the proposer of the resolution, rose to speak and continued standing on his feet for some time, despite the President sounding the gong and cries of "Order, order."

When order had been restored Alderman Lawlor proposed, and Mr. Duffy seconded, that the matter be referred to the Standing Committee for the purpose of their presenting a resolution which would be acceptable to Congress.

This course was agreed to.

Subsequently the Standing Committee brought in the following substituted resolution, which was agreed to:—"That this Congress strongly disapproves of the action of workers, members of organised unions, doing house or ship painters' work, and that Congress empowers the National Executive to call upon the Executives of the unions concerned not to sanction any such encroachment by their members on the house and ship painting craft."

Votes of thanks were passed to the Chairman, the Lord Mayor, and the Press, and the proceedings ended.

LABOUR MOVEMENT IN DUBLIN.

THE NEW WORKERS' COUNCIL.

DECISION OF THE TRADES CONGRESS.

In the report of the Executive which was submitted at the Irish Labour Party and Trades Union Congress at the Mansion House, Dublin, yesterday, it was stated that it had been alleged that the existing Dublin Trades Council was no longer qualified to speak for any large proportion of the organised workers of Dublin. They expressed the view that the matter was in the hands of the local unions. Steps had recently been taken towards the establishment of a Labour Council for Dublin, which appeared to have the general support of the unions of the city. The new council applied for affiliation, and it was decided to leave the matter in the hands of the Congress, as it involved the question whether the old and presently affiliated council should remain in affiliation or the new council should take its place. There could not be two councils for the same city affiliated.

A committee was appointed by the Congress to inquire into the matter and hear both sides, and they reported as follows:—

1. That a need had arisen in the Labour movement in Dublin when a body representative of the entire working class of that city became necessary, so that responsible action might be taken in any crisis that might arise.

2. That at a meeting representative of practically all trade unions in Dublin, and to which practically all the trade unions in the city were invited, it was decided to call the present Dublin Workers' Council into being. Only 150 delegates present there were two dissentients.

3. That the newly constituted Dublin Workers' Council represents the overwhelming majority of the workers of Dublin, inasmuch as it has been proved to this Committee that its minimum membership is 39,950. This total has been arrived in detail, the number of unions affiliated being 23.

4. That we consider no principle is advanced nor any advantage likely to accrue to any section of the workers of the city by failing to affiliate with this Dublin Workers' Council.

5. The Committee desire to express the hope that in order to preserve intact the solidarity of the Labour movement in Dublin, and, for that matter, in the entire country, the few unions at present outside the Workers' Council will see their way, in the interests of the entire Labour movement, to affiliate with that body.

Having agreed to the above, we unanimously decide to recommend the application for affiliation of the Dublin Workers' Council to the Irish Labour Party and Trades Union Congress for adoption.

The report was adopted by 165 votes to 12.

FRIENDLY SOCIETIES AND BOLSHEVISM.

At the Foresters' High Court in Leeds yesterday, Mr. G. Abbott, of Sheffield, the "Grand Old Man" of the movement, said, in an interview, that the friendly societies in the last century were one of our strongest bulwarks against the Victorian variety of Bolshevism. They were declining numerically to-day through the Insurance Act killing the voluntary spirit. A man with a solid stake in a friendly society was not only a contented man, but an administrative man.

KILLALOE SYNOD.

DR. BERRY AND IRISH UNITY.

DAWN OF A NEW HOPE.

DECREASE IN CHURCH POPULATION.

The annual meeting of the Killaloe and Kilfenora Diocesan Synod was held in the Lecture Hall, Nenagh, yesterday. The Right Rev. T. Sterling Berry, D.D., Bishop of Killaloe, Kilfenora, Clonfert, and Kilmacduagh, presided.

The President, in the course of his address to the Synod, said that as regards the number of churches in the diocese in which Divine Service was held, there was practically no change. One or two had been closed, and a few more were left with very small congregations, but when they found 87 put down as the number of churches in Killaloe, Kilfenora, Clonfert, and Kilmacduagh a few years before the Act of Disestablishment became law, and could point to-day to 85 still open and in use, there was cause for thankfulness.

CHURCH POPULATION.

When they passed to the population, however, a great change presented itself to them. By a Parliamentary return drawn up in 1884, the church population of those dioceses was put down as 15,906. According to the Rural Dean's returns for this year, their present church population was only 5,876. There was something almost staggering in the contrast, and they had yet to reach the low water mark. They might, before long, have to alter their organisation, in parts at least, of those dioceses so as to adapt them to entirely new conditions.

Passing from a review of comparative salaries in the dioceses, the President referred to the death of the Rev. F. S. Samuels, D.D., and made special mention of Mr. George Freud, the tragic circumstances of whose death were fresh in the memory of all the members of that Synod.

In the year 1919 the contributions to the dioceses of Killaloe and Kilfenora to foreign missions amounted to £2,660, being an increase of £760 over the amount subscribed the previous year. This year's report showed that the sum contributed in 1920 amounted to £2,397 18s. 7d. This was a decrease of £262, but there was no cause for discouragement in that decrease. They were still nearly £500 in excess of the amount subscribed two years ago; the contribution in 1919 included many large thankofferings for the restoration of peace.

PEACE, PROSPERITY, UNITY, AND BROTHERHOOD.

"There is a matter occupying much of our thoughts which it is impossible to pass over without mention," continued the President, "and yet under the conditions which exist to-day the reference to it must be controlled by a reticence rendered imperative by the uncertainty as to the issue. We have been living through dark days—days of trouble, days of mourning—here in our land. Now there has come the dawn of a new hope. Whatever our personal convictions may be, there is, I believe, a common desire going forth from the heart, not only of all members of this Synod, but of all who love Ireland, that, come what may, we shall have no return to the conditions of life here which prevailed up to a few weeks ago; but we hope, many of us, at least, for far more than this; we hope that the dawn of a new and brighter day for Ireland is very near, a day of peace and prosperity, a day of unity and brotherhood, a day of righteousness and truth.

"Do not allow the dark spirit of despondency to shut out the entering into your hearts of this strong hope.

"There came once in the history of Israel a time of intense trouble. There were many pessimists amongst the people. Their cry, we are told, was, 'Our hope is lost; We are clean cut off.' Through the medium of a wonderful vision the prophet who ministered to them was bidden to bring them a message of hope, a gospel of a resurrection from the dark present to a future of prosperity and peace. To the eyes of leaders and people this message seemed impossible, but the prophet uplifted their despair from the counsels of politicians to the eternal purpose of God. Can these bones live?' represented the despairing question of those who looked upon a dismembered and stricken nation. But the Spirit of God descended, and the dry bones became an exceeding great army of living men. It was the type of a national re-awakening, a new birth effected by the inspiration of the Great King of All the Earth.

"Joined on to the vision of the revival of the nation there came a symbolic act which also fell under the eyes here in Ireland. There had been partition in Palestine. North and south were separated into two opposing camps. The prophet was bidden to take two sticks, and to write the north on the one and the south on the other. In the presence of the people he took the two sticks in his hand. As he did so they became as one stick. It was the pledge, the sign of unity and peace, and as now, an utter impossibility—the welding of the divided land into a harmonious unity. We recognise in the vision, and in what followed it, the message of God to ourselves to-day. A dark past, but a bright future, because our hope is not on politicians, but upon the living and eternal God. An Ireland now divided, but an Ireland yet to become one under the controlling influence of the Holy Spirit of unity, peace, and concord."

REDUCTION OF CHURCH DIGNITIES.

Arising from a resolution of the General Synod requesting the consideration of the reduction of Church dignities, a resolution, proposed by the Archdeacon, was passed unanimously, protesting against the proposal to abolish the Deanery of Killaloe, contained in the report of the Committee of Retrenchment and Reform, as the removal of such an ancient dignity would mean a loss and a discouragement in the diocese, and would confer no special benefit on anyone.

A motion was passed protesting against the proposed drastic reduction of canonries.

FINANCIAL REPORTS.

The Diocesan Council, in their report for the year 1920, stated that all the parishes in the diocese paid their superannuation assessments for that period. The contribution to the Central Superannuation Fund had been increased by one per cent. on assessable income—£106. This would involve a considerable increase in parochial superannuation assessments. The balance to credit of the Diocesan Stipend Fund at the end of the year was £977 7s. 3d., and of this £977 had been paid as a war bonus to the clergy. A sum of £697 19s. 4d. had been paid in augmentation of stipends. The sum allocated to the diocese for war bonus to the end of 1920 was £782, which, with the sum of £977 already mentioned, made a total of £1,729, and this had been divided between Killaloe East and Killaloe West as follows:—Killaloe East, £945 10s.; Killaloe West, £783 10s. Since the inauguration of the Central Emergency Fund in 1919, a sum of £1,885 had been subscribed from the entire diocese, and remitted to the Central Committee, which had made grants to the diocese amounting to £1,587. The sum was distributed as follows:—The clergy of East Killaloe, £1,092; West Killaloe, £301, and a further sum of £185 among the superannuated annuitants.

On the motion of the Archdeacon, seconded by Mr. J. C. Darby, the report was adopted.

Reports of the Glebes' Committees, Boards of Education, Temperance Committees, Choral Association, and Boards of Missions were also submitted and adopted.

THE CITY COMMISSION.

DUBLIN'S MANY ROBBERS.

SHARP SENTENCES FOR ARMED MEN.

The business of the Dublin City and County Commission was resumed yesterday by the Lord Chief Justice at Green street Courthouse.

CHARGE OF HOUSE-BREAKING.

James Gannon pleaded guilty to a charge of having, on July 5th, entered the warehouse of Messrs. Nicholson and Morrough, Beresford place, and stolen a quantity of clothing, the property of Mr. Edward Hackett. He further pleaded guilty to breaking and entering the premises of Messrs. John George Campbell and Company, Ltd., Moore street, and stealing whiskey and brandy.

His lordship passed a sentence of three years' penal discipline in the Clonmel Borstal Institution.

Mr. W. S. Gleeson (instructed by Mr. James Brady) appeared for the prisoner.

ROBBERY BY ARMED MAN.

Leopold Fitzgerald, a powerful looking young man, was charged with having, on the 1st June, being then armed with a revolver, threatened John Frisk, manager of the firm of Messrs. Wilkinson, Owens, and Shannon, 5 North Great George's street, and put him in danger of his life, and, further, with having stolen £12 10s. 1d., the property of the firm.

Mr. Carrigan, K.C., who prosecuted on behalf of the Crown, said that this was a class of case with which the citizens of Dublin were unfortunately too familiar. A man walked into a building, presented a revolver at the person in charge, and compelled him to put up his hands, threatened his life, and then looted the cash.

Evidence having been given.

The jury found the prisoner guilty, and he was put back for sentence.

Mr. Malachi Muldoon (instructed by Mr. G. H. O'Brien) appeared for the prisoner.

A YOUTHFUL OFFENDER.

A boy named James Delany was charged with having, on various dates in last year and the present year, stolen five gramaphones, with a large number of gramaphone records, a spirit level, and a set of musical tools, the property of Messrs. Pigott and Company. The parents of the boy, John Delany and Margaret Delany, were charged with receiving the gramaphones, knowing them to have been stolen. The boy pleaded guilty, and the parents not guilty.

Detective Sergeant Fetherston-Haugh having, on various dates, stolen several bicycles. He pleaded guilty to the theft of the various machines with one exception. The parents, who were charged with having received the bicycles, pleaded not guilty.

John Delany, the father, was put on trial separately, charged with having feloniously received the gramophones and gramophone records.

Mr. W. G. Gleeson (instructed by Messrs. Lidwell and O'Reilly) appeared for the defence.

Mr. Corrigan, K.C., opening the case for the Crown, said that a number of gramophones and gramophone records had been stolen from Messrs. Pigott's establishment in Suffolk street. Detectives went to the prisoner's house at 9 Thomas street, West, on the 7th July, and found some of the missing property. Inquiries went to show that the Delanys were in the recipient of stolen property which he said that he got from his son. His defence was that he had paid his son for the property.

At the close of the evidence,

Mr. Gleeson, addressing the jury for the prisoner, referred to the evidence of Detectives Mulvihill and Lynch as a sample of the fair evidence given from day to day by police officers in that Court. They heard a lot of talk about policemen trying to get men convicted, but, speaking as an advocate of some experience, he said that that experience was altogether the other way. Counsel urged that, as admitted by the police, the prisoner had an excellent character as an employé of Messrs. Guinness for 25 years.

The jury found the prisoner guilty, and he was put back for sentence.

Mrs. Delany, wife of the prisoner in the previous case, was also found guilty of receiving, with a strong recommendation to mercy, and was allowed out, to appear in Court this morning.

ROBBERIES UNDER ARMS.

EXEMPLARY SENTENCES.

Michael Hanlon, William Flood, Francis Gallagher, and Leopold Fitzgerald were put forward for sentence.

The prisoners had either been found guilty or had pleaded guilty.

The Lord Chief Justice said that these four prisoners had been going about the City and County of Dublin with revolvers intimidating people, threatening their lives, and obtaining their property by menaces. The offences were very serious, and merited, and should receive, exemplary punishment.

Michael Hanlon was sentenced to three years' penal servitude.

William Flood, a lad of 19 years of age, who had got into bad company, was sentenced to three years' penal discipline in the Borstal Institution, Clonmel.

Francis Gallagher was sentenced to two years' imprisonment, with hard labour.

Leopold Fitzgerald was also sentenced to two years' imprisonment, with hard labour.

ATTENDANCE OF JURORS.

The Lord Chief Justice announced yesterday afternoon that the jurors would be required to attend at Green street Courthouse this morning and that the panel would be called on fines.

CITY BANK ROBBERIES.

SIX DUBLIN MEN CHARGED.

In the Southern Police Court, Dublin, yesterday, before Mr. Cooper, K.C., six young men were charged with having entered and robbed the Ulster Bank sub-offices at Rosbrugh, and Lower Baggot street, Dublin, on the morning of the 11th July. The prisoners were arrested in a camp at Howth. Their names are:—Patrick Lawlor, Henry Dowling, James Shaw, Ernest Harper, Robert Johnson, and Joseph Stoole, all of Dublin.

Mr. P. H. O'Brien, solicitor, appeared for three of the prisoners—Patrick Lawlor, Henry Dowling, and James Shaw. Mr. Noel Dowling, solicitor, appeared for Ernest Harper. Mr. Gerald Byrne, solicitor, represented Robert Johnson. The sixth prisoner, Joseph Stoole, was undefended.

James T. Scarlett, cashier of the bank, stated that on the morning of the 11th July five or six young men entered the bank shouting "Hands up, gentlemen!" All the staff were covered with revolvers. Some of the intruders crossed the counter and went to the cash desk. One man smashed the telephone receiver and cash was taken away to the amount of £316 18s. 9d. He could not identify any of the men.

Edgar B. Tombe, a clerk in the bank, said that he saw a man, whom he could not identify, carrying a bag of silver, to the sum of £85, out of the bank.

Miss Marjory Harris stated that two men entered the inner office of the bank with revolvers, and ordered the staff to face the wall. She could not identify any of the men.

Albert G. Anketell, a clerk in the Ranelagh branch of the bank, stated that three men entered his branch of the bank, jumped the counter, produced revolvers, and ordered the staff to face the wall. Other men were also present. Two of the men entered the room where he was working. He identified one of the prisoners.

Algernon Bamford, draper, Howth, said that he was the owner of a licensed taxi, and knew all the defendants, except Shaw. On the night of the 10th July the car was hired by some of the prisoners, and on the next day he was paid £5 for its use. Johnson was the driver on that occasion. When the car was brought round to the door on the morning of the 11th July three of the accused were there—Harper, Lawlor and Johnson. They also had the car on the 12th July, and £5 was paid for it by some of the party. It was out with the party two days later, for which he received £10.

A MOTOR DRIVER'S STATEMENT.

Johnson, one of the prisoners, made a written statement, as follows:—

On the 11th July, 1921, I was asked to drive Mr. Bamford's motor car to the city with Joseph Stoole, Harry Dowling, Patrick Lawlor, and Ernest Harper, who were camping with me at Howth, where I first met them. Harper, with me, engaged the car. I drove them straight to the city, crossing Butt Bridge, Brunswick street, Westland Row, Merrion square, Stephen's Green, Leeson street, turning to the right along the tramline through Appian Way and Chelmsford road. When I went about 50 or 60 yards of the Main street of Ranelagh they told me to pull up. The four left the car and told me to wait for them, which I did. They next went towards Ranelagh, and were away about five or six minutes, when they returned and got into the car. They next told me to drive on, telling me the turns to take. I drove along Fitzwilliam street, and when near the corner of Baggot street, where I saw a building in course of erection, they told me to pull up. They got out of the car, went around the corner into Baggot street, and returned again in five or six minutes. They then got into the car and drove straight back to the camp in Howth.

Later I left back the car at Bamford's. Harper was with me leaving back the car. I did not know what they were at in Baggot street or Ranelagh. I drove them on a few occasions afterwards to Baldoyle and Malahide.

Mr. Cooper discharged Shaw, and the other prisoners were remanded till Thursday next.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

A GALLANT IRISHMAN.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—In recording the heroic death of the late Lieutenant T. B. Vickers at the pass of Shahur Tangi, I think it would be well to mention that he is not English, but Irish. His grandfather, the late Henry Vickers, barrister-at-law, belonged to an Irish family, and lived for many years at Lower Leeson street, then at Bray, and afterwards at the Hermitage, Booterstown, where he died, leaving three sons and three daughters. Lieutenant Vickers, though not born in Ireland, was brought up at Coolroe, Craigueманagh, Co. Kilkenny, and his mother, who mourns his irreparable loss, has lived there until quite recently. There can be no doubt as to the fact that Lieutenant T. B. Vickers must be considered an Irishman—another heroic soul who has freely hazarded his life and has fallen in the pride of youth at the post of danger and duty. Yours, etc.,

THE RAILWAY DISPUTE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Your leading article to-day calls attention to the utter ruin—economic and political—which a railway strike at the present moment would inflict on the country. Is it too much to ask the railway companies and their employés to apply the principles of the coal settlement to their own dispute? Let the men accept a reduction in wages now, with the proviso that, after the companies have paid a dividend equivalent to 8 per cent. on the present market price of their shares, all surplus profits shall be divided in the ratio of 50 per cent. towards increase of wages, 25 per cent. towards increase of dividends, and 25 per cent. towards reduction of fares and freights. A settlement on these lines would be fair to all parties, and public criticism of the high railway fares would be silenced by the knowledge that the fares would be reduced as soon as the profits permitted a reduction.—Yours, etc.,

DELAY AT KINGSTOWN PIER.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Some time ago a letter appeared in your issue concerning the delay in getting in from Kingstown Pier on the mail train in the afternoon. Although the contract for the mails has been given to a new company, no improvement has taken place; the delay is even greater. The first train (for the provinces) is off about 15 minutes after the arrival of the boat; but the second (the Dublin train) is delayed for over an hour until the boat is cleared of all passengers' luggage, etc. This delay would not be tolerated in England, and something ought to be done to get the second train off earlier. There is not even a coffee buffet on the pier for a thirsty traveller.—Yours, etc.,

CLONMEL HORSE SHOW.

SUCCESSFUL OPENING DAY.

The thirty-first annual two-day show of the Clonmel Horse Show Society opened yesterday. This show has made great strides in recent years. Managed on progressive lines it is an assured success, and no effort is spared to advance in every way the interests of the horse industries in the wide district covered by its operations. The entries this year were:—Horses, 376; cattle, 110; swine and goats, 10; poultry, 81, and crop samples and honey, 201. The All-Ireland Fox Hound Show is also held in connection with the Show, and most of the important Southern packs are represented in the competition for valuable cups. The Executive also, wisely, decided to increase the prize money for jumping classes, and doubled the endowment for the jumping contests—a fine sporting fixture of the show. The sire class prizes were largely increased, and a valuable cup was presented by Mr. Baker, of Lismacue. The South Tipperary Agricultural Committee allocated generous prizes for live stock, poultry, and farm produce. There was a large number of visitors to the show. The weather was somewhat inclement in the morning, being warm and rainy, but it improved later. A word of praise is due to Mr. Morton Jackson, Hon. Secretary, and his assistant, Mr. Joe Carroll, for the admirable way in which they carried through the business of the day. The following were the awards:—

FINANCIAL NEWS

IRISH STOCK EXCHANGES.

DUBLIN.

QUIET BUSINESS, WITH IRREGULAR MOVEMENTS. CONSOLS, GREAT NORTHERN, AND GUINNESS BETTER. BANK STOCK RELAPSE.

There was a very quiet day's business on the Dublin Stock Exchange, and the declining value of money for some time, coupled with favourable dividend statements in many directions, has scarcely increased the tendency to support prices. The Funds were irregular, and a reaction took place in Banking Securities, including Bank of Ireland Stock that had recently risen over twenty points. The Guinness market was just the turn easier, but support is surprisingly meagre, considering the very fine dividend statement and the greatly increased distribution for the past year. The Funds were again freely dealt in, with Consols, Funding Loan, and India 3½ p.c. better. Kingstown Urban District Stock rose sharply. Marconi shares were a little firmer. Great Northern Rails were strong, especially Guaranteed and Deb. Stocks, but other Rails rather offered, especially Midland Great Western Ord Stock. Dublin Trams kept very firm. Alliance Gas were bid for. The Stock Exchange made a mistake the previous day in quoting Burke Pref. 6½. 3d. They were not dealt in. Dunlop Rubber Ord. were harder, and Imperial Tobacco shares were buyers at 50s. to a shade over.

In the Funds, Consols rose ¼ to 49¼, Funding Loan ¼ to 71¾, and India 3½ p.c. ¼ to 58½; but War Loan 5 p.c. fell ¼ to 98¾ ¾ and ¼ and 98¾ closed. Victory Bonds rose ¼ to 76¾ and India 3 p.c. ¼ to 50½. Dublin Corporation Stock rose ¼ further to 59½, and Kingstown Urban District 3½ p.c. ½ to 65.

Banks were quiet. Bank Stock fell 3 to 206, while Hibernians repeated 5½. Munster and Leinsters were bid for ineffectually at 5½.

Dealing in Breweries was confined to Guinness issues, which were a trifle firmer. Ord. rose ¼ to 40¾ and the Pref. ¼ to 10-¼. The net profits are given on the Stock Exchange official list as £3,729,803, an increase of £266,711 on top of an increase of £1,187,277 reflected a year ago.

Marconi Wireless Telegraph Ord. rose 1s. to £1s.

Home Rails were very sparingly dealt in. Great Northern repeated 59½, and the Debs. were bid up 1½ to 69, without getting any Stock. The Guaranteed closed unofficially 3 higher at 58 to 60.

In Tramways, Dublin United Pref. rose ¼ to 8½.

Alliance Gas were bid for at 90s., but did not offer.

Bakery shares were neglected, Drapery shares idle, Manufacturing securities without feature, and Trading and Miscellaneous almost neglected. Imperial Tobacco shares rose slightly to 50s. 1½d.

HOLIDAY STOCKS.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

There is a distinct holiday appearance about the City in these days, and the Stock Exchange yesterday for the most part was in a state of inertia. The best that can be said about the gilt-edged group is that stocks remain steady. Apart from the short-dated National War Bonds, which were about ¼ weaker, the only changes to be recorded are in Local Loans, which lost ¼ to ⅝, and Sudan 5½ p.c., which improved ¼ to ⅝. With three exceptions, too, the newer Corporation Stocks were idle. Reading advanced ¼ to 101¼, and Gateshead and Wallasey each rising ¼ to, respectively, 99¾ and 98¾, while five of the older issues went up a point. There was also very little doing in Colonial scrips, the only changes being rises of ¼ in Tasmania to 4¼ prem., and ¼ in South Australian to ¼ prem., and Melbourne Metropolitan Board of Works to ¼ prem. There were a few sharp rises in Canadian issues, notably of 4 points in both Saskatoon 4 p.c. Deb. of 1923 to 120, and Quebec Tours of 1934 to 89½, while St. Lucia West Indies Four p.c. were marked 8½ to 7½. Indian Railway Stocks again presented a firm appearance, with East India "D" Annuity good at 94 xd.

LONDON STOCKS QUIET.

(FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

On the London Stock Exchange dealings were on a small scale, and business languished generally. The attendance of operators was small, and there appeared to be no speculative share whatever. Investment stocks were fairly well supported. Prices among Argentines were not so well maintained, but Oils and Kaffirs were fairly good. Consols were unchanged on the day, but the 5 per cent. War Loan was ⅛ dearer at 98¾. India 7 per cent. rose ¼ to 101¾. County and Corporation 6 per cent. Debs. were receiving a fair amount of attention. Ten of Calcutta was 1¾ premium; middling.

Foreign Government securities were dull, with few changes. French Five dropping ¼ to 4 and Japanese 5 per cent. 1 to 84. Portuguese 3 per cent. were ¼ higher at 26, while Rosario Rails were attractive, and in nearly all cases former quotations were repeated. Great Western Pref. rose 1 to 38, and London South-Western Pref. advanced a point to 93½, while London and South Western Def. fell ¼ to 18⅜. Lancashire, Foreign Railways, were a shade higher at 16⅝. Grand Trunks were without change, and Mexicans were the same. Argentine dropped, and "B.A.G.S." advanced ¼ to ⅝. Yokohama was ¼ better at 10⅜. Shell, and De Beers gained ¼ to ⅜, and J. Hoyle to 1¼, Crosses and Winterth Pref. falling sharply to 15s. 9d. Rubbers hardened, among Stores, to 1¼, and Lyons Jamaicas, further receded to 2s. Silver Debs. remained at 10s. 3d., were dull at 6s., but Magadi Soda was a shade better at 1¼ to 1⅜. Bradford Dyers rose ¼, and J. Hoyle to 1¼, Crosses and Winterth Pref. falling sharply to 15s. 9d. Rubbers hardened, among Stores, to 1¼, and Lyons Jamaicas, further receded to 2s. Silver Debs. remained at 10s. 3d., were dull at 6s., but Magadi Soda was a shade better at 1¼ to 1⅜.
